Target Audience

This symposium is designed for dermatologists in private practice or academia, dermatology residents and mid-level providers in dermatology.

Purpose and Course Description

The goal of the annual SEC meeting is to support the education and collaboration of dermatologists in the Southeastern United States. Each year, the meeting rotates among the 10 participating university dermatology programs with a core curriculum that is rotated not more often than every 3 years. The SEC meeting covers key topics in dermatology both through didactic lectures as well as through patient presentations and active discussion with ample time allotted to answer participant questions. The major topics covered in the 2010 meeting will be hair disorders, melanoma, and a therapeutic update with lectures given by national and international leaders in dermatology and medicine.
